THE IOWA CAMPAIGN.

An election takes place in Iowa next November for State officers and members of the Legislature. The Senators to be elected will have a voice in selecting a successor to United States Senator Wilson. There are four tickets in the field, the Democratic, Republican, Populist and Prohibition. Governor Hoies is a candidate for re-election. He was twice elected on a free coinage platform, but this year the platform makers, in deference to Administration influence, dodged the silver question, and the Republicans, under Wall Street inspiration, followed the example of the Democrats. The Populists, however, made up for the delinquencies of the old parties by unequivocally declaring for free coinage.

In the campaign, which is now at its height, the Populist speakers are the only ones who arouse the people, and large accessions to their ranks are being made from the old parties. The Republicans and Democrats agree on the financial question, which is the only political issue in which the farmers take much interest, and it is difficult for their candidates to explain the difference between the two parties. The people take little interest in the Federal Elections bill, and the tariff does not disturb them, as it is evident that high duties must be maintained to procure revenue for the support of the Government. On the other hand, the Populists are making an aggressive campaign. They have able speakers who assail the Wall Street combination and explain how and why the remonetization of silver would benefit the farmer, as well as the miner.

It can hardly be expected that the Populists will elect the Governor, as the party had no organization in many of the counties until quite recently and polled only 21,000 votes in the State last year, but they hope to carry several counties and secure a large representation in the Legislature.

AN ABSURD ASSUMPTION.

The silver men have repeatedly asserted that the United States should adopt a monetary system of its own and declare its independence of European money methods by remonetizing silver. This country is the greatest producer of silver in the world, and the friends of that metal contend that London brokers should not be permitted to fix the price of it. Europe and Asia must have silver and they must get it from America. The enemies of silver deny the ability of the United States to maintain its financial independence and want the use of silver as money, except as subsidiary coins, discontinued, or, if continued, as much silver put in circulation as London money sharks desire. These patriotic individuals want the money lenders of Europe, not the United States, to name the terms upon which silver shall be coined in the United States.

Commenting upon the ridiculous assumption of the gold men that this country is not able to maintain financial independence the New York Centinel says:

"This is the only great civilized country in the world that is increasing at all in population, and the rate of its increase in wealth as well as population is without any parallel in history. Munich, in his 'Balance Sheet of the World,' says: 'Every day the sun rises upon the American people it sees an addition of $2,500,000 to the accumulation of wealth in the republic, which is equal to one-third of the daily accumulation of mankind outside of the United States.' And yet our (alleged) leading statesmen tell us that we are not strong enough to have our own bimetallic currency without England's consent!"

THE SAN FRANCISCO POSTOFFICE SITE.

Representative Bankhead, Chairman of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, believes that there was crookedness in the purchase of the site for the new postoffice building in San Francisco. He has introduced and secured the adoption of the following resolution:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to transmit to the House the reports relating to the selection and purchase of a site for a Government building at San Francisco, Cal., including daily reports of the special agent of the Treasury Department who conducted the borings on said lot.

When these documents have been received by the House, Bankhead says he will make some startling disclosures. He has heretofore given out that almost conclusive evidence of bribery in connection with the purchase of the site had been furnished the committee of which he is chairman.

Reports from Washington indicate that Senators Teller and Wolcott of Colorado and Senator White of California will be found in the Populist ranks at the next election. Senator White is quoted as saying that he is in general accord with the principles of the People's party, and Teller and Wolcott have virtually abandoned Republicanism.

The race between the Vigilant and Vulture for the America's cup at New York yesterday was a failure, as the yachts were unable to sail over the course in the time limit, in consequence of a dead calm. The course was fifteen to windward and return.

Unemployed miners are flocking to Grass Valley, Cal. The situation will soon become serious. There are about twenty men for every position of whatever nature. Still they keep coming. Grass Valley will soon have to establish a free soup house.

STILL IN CONVENTION.

THE PAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Free Coinage the Principal Question. St. Louis, October 5.—This is the last day of the Bimetallic League Convention of America. The Committee on Resolutions presented a supplemental report, unfavorably passing upon the proposition of Thomas Warren to take action looking to the endorsement of the removal of the national capital further west; also favoring the printing and circulation of the address of yesterday by Walter N. Allen of Kansas, upon the "Exception Clause" of the silver law. The report was adopted without dissent. The question came then upon the adoption of the report of the Resolution Committee.

Delegate Waterbury moved an amendment to the report by the adoption of the proposition presented by H. M. Taylor of Mexico, favoring the increase of the volume of currency by the issue of legal tender notes secured by land values.

Delegate Cochran of Missouri opposed all efforts to say or do anything in the convention upon the money question—other than to fully and entirely endorse the free coinage of silver.

Taylor replied in defense of his proposition, urging that money based upon such security was as safe as money based on the honor of our Government, as are $346,000,000 of greenbacks.

Governor Tillman spoke briefly, declaring that it was the desire of his committee to concentrate the efforts of the convention upon the central purpose of bimetallicism, and for that reason it seemed to them unwise to seek more now, no matter how alluring the prospects were.

Governor Waite of Colorado begged the convention not to be diverted from the one great issue. Until the success of bimetallicism showed Wall Street to have lost its grip upon legislation it was impossible to secure any other form of financial legislation. As to the West and South, they could control the politics of the country if it became necessary. He declared his belief that there were millions of money now in Washington to buy Congress, and with such a condition the South and West must unite.

Delegate Manning of Alabama declared that the South was for union with the West in the battle for free coinage of silver, but pleaded for the prevention of additional extraneous matter to the platform as a diversion from the purpose of the convention.

Delegate Skaggs of Alabama spoke in a similar strain, also denouncing President Cleveland as the enemy and betrayer of the people.

Delegates Taylor, Waterbury and White withdrew the minority report. Then, with a motion to adopt the majority report pending, the convention adjourned till 2 P. M.

HOME RULE IN THE SENATE.

The Question Discussed in Executive Session.

WASHINGTON, October 5.—The Senate went into executive session on motion of Voorhees, and the silver men had a day of rest. Presidential appointments which violated the home rule plank of the Democratic platform were discussed.

Speeches were made in opposition to the appointments by Hill of New York, Davis and Washburn of Minnesota and others. Hill's speech was a criticism of such appointments in general as a violation of the Democratic platform. Davis and Washburn spoke specifically of outside appointments to Minnesota, particularly of R. M. Allen of Illinois as agent for the White Earth Indians. Some of the President's friends defended the appointment on the ground that appointments so made are all of a strictly national character. Voorhees and Palmer spoke in this line. The opponents of confirmation believe they can defeat the Administration. They count on all the Republicans and on Senators Hill and Murphy of New York, Allen of Nebraska, Martin of Kansas and possibly Roach of North Dakota.

New York Democrats.

SARATOGA, October 5.—The Democratic State Convention met here this morning. The question of candidates seemed to be settled in advance. Cord Meyer of Brooklyn will be candidate for Secretary of State; Hugh Duddy of Cortland, for State Treasurer; Attorney-general Risendale and State Engineer Schenck will be nominated, and Isaac Maynard named for Judge of the Court of Appeals. All this, however, will not be done until late tomorrow. The Hill people, who have control, have determined that anti-snapper contestants shall not be chucked out, but that merit shall determine each case, upon a careful hearing by a committee to be named under the chairmanship of Dan Lockwood, who nominated Cleveland for Governor and President.

THE STORM ON THE GULF.

Fearful Loss of Life and Destruction of Property.

NEW ORLEANS, October 5.—Details of the loss of life and property by Sunday's storm in the Gulf States show that the loss of life was frightful and the destruction of property great.

In Alachua parish the death list is swollen to eighty with a prospect of reaching a hundred before all are heard from.

At Schwell Beach and St. Malo Island the loss is about thirty.

On Mississippi Sound and vicinity the loss will probably reach a score.

It is reported that Chandelour Isle was swept away with great loss of life and property.

The loss of life in the Cook Bayou country will approximate 200. The country was swept clean of houses, and scores of fishing shacks were destroyed.

News from Grand Isle this morning places the loss of life there at not above twenty-five, all negroes. Property to the amount of $100,000 was destroyed.

Cheniere had a population of about 1,400 and the loss of life was between 900 and 1,000.

Seventy-two were drowned in Chinese camps on Bayou Senat and Bayou Andre.

It is estimated that the aggregate loss of life in the storm is between 1,200 and 1,300. The property loss will reach several millions. There were three or four hundred fishing crafts, of which half were wrecked. This cripples the oyster industry, and an oyster famine for a time is looked for in this city.

Fifty-seven bodies were found in the vicinity of Grand Perle, and at the quarantine station at Bayou Lafourcade were drowned. Coffins are out of the question, and the unidentified are buried in trenches. The sufferings of the survivors are being relieved as much as possible, and a shipment of supplies was sent this morning. Dead bodies are floating around on every side. The situation is unparalleled in the history of the South.

What Senator Pettigrew Said to the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The President has made an important admission. He admitted that if, as reported, there were twenty Senators who were ready to filibuster against a vote on unconditional repeal, unconditional repeal could not pass. It is understood the man to whom he made this admission was Senator Pettigrew, and that the Senator had a voice in an interesting interview with the President.

"What will be the outcome in the Senate?" was the question the President asked the Senator.

"Unconditional repeal is certain to be defeated," came the reply.

"Why?" asked the President.

"Simply because Silver men believe they are right in demanding some concessions in favor of silver, but principally because Democratic Senators alleged to be in favor of repeal personally desire the defeat of this measure because they want to see you defeated."

ADULT THIEVES.

Seven Hundred Dollars and a Lot of Jewelry Stolen From the Palace Hotel Safe.

Yesterday morning Al White, proprietor of the Palace Hotel, opened the safe to get some change. Words cannot well express his surprise when he found the safe ransacked and $700 in coin which had been deposited in it for safe keeping the night before, missing. A lot of jewelry which had been kept in the safe was also gone. Among these articles was a lady's gold watch and chain, a pair of diamond studded bracelets and society emblems.

The thief was evidently an adept as he had keys which unlocked and locked both doors of the safe, which is of the MacNeal & Urban pattern, and he left no clue, so far as yet discovered, as to his identity. Guests at the hotel were around until the electric lights were turned out, about 12:30 A. M., and the belief is that the theft was committed after that time. The night clerk at the hotel, W. G. Cecil, thinks the safe was opened while he was eating his midnight lunch in the restaurant which is separated from the bar-room by a hall. This is the second time within two years that Mr. White has lost considerable money at the hands of robbers and thieves. A year ago last winter a robber entered the room where a faro game was being conducted, covered those present with a revolver, took about $500 in gold which was stacked up on the table and made his escape from the house. Now a thief procures keys to the hotel safe and steals $700 in money and several hundred dollars worth of jewelry.

This theft could hardly have been the work of strangers as the thief had keys to both doors of the safe, and it affords opportunity for the detectives to show their skill.

THE MIDWINTER FAIR.

An Invitation to Attend it and Suggestions as to an Exhibit.

STATE OF NEVADA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, CARSON CITY, Nevada, Oct. 4, 1894.

To the People of Nevada.—An invitation has been extended to you, through your Chief Executive, by the Director-General of the Midwinter Fair, to be held in the city of San Francisco, commencing January 1, 1894, to co-operate with the people of California and our neighboring States in making an exhibit of our various products.

While there is no provision of law for a State exhibit, I believe this to be the best opportunity ever offered our citizens to place before the people of the Pacific Coast, and the thousands of others from the Eastern States and foreign countries, who will visit the fair, facts which will prove the vast extent, great variety and enormous value of our mineral deposits, together with the wonderful yield and superior quality of our agricultural products.

This can be accomplished by a little exertion on the part of our enterprising citizens.

I have requested our State Agricultural Society to take the lead in this enterprise, and have also written to the World's Fair Commissioners for permission to ship our Chicago exhibit direct through to San Francisco, which is a splendid exhibit of itself, and with what can be added by a little labor and expenditure of money, will astonish even our own people.

I estimate that it will cost about $4,000 to collect, arrange and take care of the exhibit during the fair, which will be an average of less than $300 for each county, and I suggest that the Board of Supervisors of each county appoint one enterprising man and an equally enterprising woman, as a committee to collect money and material for their respective counties. These committees can meet and elect a Commissioner-in-Chief, who will represent the State at large.

These are only suggestions, which I am sending out for the purpose of getting an expression of the people as to whether they desire to make an exhibit or not, which I hope through the kind offices of the newspapers of the State to accomplish, and also with a hope that it may bring out suggestions for some better plan than is herein proposed.

ROSWELL K. COLCORD, Governor.

TRAINMEN'S DAY.

Old Time Railroaders to Participate in Celebrating it.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will celebrate October 13th, as trainmen's Day at the World's Fair. John Finlayson of Mt. Carroll, Ill., 85 years old, and J. S. Davidson of Stellarton, Nova Scotia, 91 years old, said to be the oldest conductor and locomotive engineer, respectively, in the world, will be present. These two ran a train over fifty years ago pulled by Samson, the locomotive now on exhibition at the World's Fair. It is the intention of the trainmen to have Samson steamed up and let Finlayson and Davidson take one more ride, though of necessity a short one, on their old time locomotive. Preparations are being made for the entertainment of 15,000 trainmen.—Dispatch.

RICH GOLD FIELDS.

Discovery of Extensive Placer Mines on the Bruneau River.

The Silver State contains the following relative to the discovery of rich placer mines on the Bruneau river, which rises in Northern Elko and discharges into Snake river, Idaho:

The Bruneau river, lying partly in the northern part of Elko county and distant from the town of Elko from eighty to ninety miles, contains very rich gold placers. These discoveries have been made in the last few weeks. In the latter part of July J. A. McBride of Elko and Captain Penrod of Island Mountain were out on a hunting trip on the Bruneau. Mr. McBride was born and raised among the rich placer mines of Palomar county, Cal. When they struck the Bruneau river it presented to McBride the characteristics of a rich gold field. He told his companion of his opinion, and soon after their return two parties went out and made several excavations in the bottom lands with most encouraging results, although on account of water they could not reach bedrock. McBride sent out a party to prospect at another point on the river some distance below where the other parties had located, which resulted in finding coarse wash gold in paying quantities in the gravel from near the surface to bedrock. The bed of the river is from 1,000 to 2,000 feet below the summit of the mountains on either side, and at several points the river passes through narrow gorges of almost perpendicular walls. Numerous gulches from three to twelve miles in length on both sides carry great quantities of water into the main river from the mountain heights, and doubtless all these contain gold in paying quantities.

Any power desirable for hydraulic mining can be had not only from the waters of the river but from many of these gulches during the whole year. Denver capitalists have lately purchased several thousand acres of placer ground on this side of the summit and are preparing to engage in extensive mining. Their ground extends from near the summit some ten miles toward Elko. Parties are mining in several gulches beyond the summit which run into the Bruneau.

Although placer mining to the south and near the Bruneau has been carried on for the last fifteen years or more in a belt fifty miles wide, there is no evidence that any prospecting has been done on the river prior to late discoveries. It would seem that the river itself ought to have long since invited the shovel and pick. The river courses along an immense fissure of great depth and crosses the extensive belt of mining country above named. No place between the Sierras and Cascades on the one side and the Rocky Mountains on the other shows such violent and immense force in the upheavals from the sombre depths as the country along the Bruneau river. On some of the heights great forests of timber are found with trees 150 in height and several feet in diameter, but they are inaccessible to man except on foot and by the most laborious climbing up rocky and precipitous chasms.

White Horse Mines.

The Dispatch says the Jim Blaine shaft is now fifty feet deep and a ledge of fine looking substantial quartz has been struck. The prospects for a first-class mine are very bright and ere long that which White Horse district needs will be established—there are bodies of good sized ledges of pay rock can be found by sinking for them. The Jim Blaine is there to stay and demonstrate that there is a long life in the camp and reward for the investors.

WHAT IS A GOLDBUG?

Its Chief Attribute, Supreme Selfishness.

A reader wants to know what a goldbug is. A goldbug is the gourmand of the animal kingdom. It is the most voracious little insect extant. It is more bloodthirsty than the bedbug; more omnivorous than the potato bug; and harder to kill than the chinch bug. It combines all the devilish traits of all the bugs in bugology. It has an insatiable maw. It has as many arms of greed and avarice as the devil fish has tentacles. It has no eyes to see the ruin, misery and devastation it causes. It has no ears to catch the wail that comes up from the army of unemployed all over the country for bread. It has no heart—there may be a knot of ganglion that sends the cold blood creeping, oozing through its system—it can have no warm, beating heart. It knows no charity, feels no love and recognizes no brotherhood of man or Fatherhood of God. Its creed is give, give, give. Its chief attribute is supreme selfishness. It would dwarf the world and make slaves of the children of men. It would send the long, bony fingers of want knocking upon the door of every cottage home. It would shut out the sunshine, murder hope, strangle prosperity, blast prospects and deaden aspirations. In short, the goldbug is the personal devil of Holy Writ that goeth up and down the earth seeking whom it may devour.—Centralia (Mo.) Courier.

Telegraph Notes.

A number of dispatches received from Rio, including one to the band of England, make no mention of the renewal of the bombardment. On the contrary they say everything is quiet, banks are opening and business is resuming.

Yesterday was Rhode Island Day at the World's Fair, and the occasion was celebrated by a parade led by the famous Newport Artillery Band, followed by Governor D. R. Brown and other State officers, State Commissioners and prominent Rhode Islanders. Later there were exercises in which addresses were delivered by Governor Brown, Professor Alonzo Williams of Brown University and others, and a dress parade by the artillery.

The Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs has assured foreign representatives that Spain would maintain a statu quo in Africa, but the building of forts in Morocco would be energetically pushed to completion. Any aggression on the part of the Moors will be severely punished. Spain will also demand full reparation from the Sultan for the outrage at Mellilla.

News has been received at Essex, Montana, that a posse stationed at Java on the line of the Great Northern road sighted the gang of robbers who held up a train in August yesterday afternoon. The officers called on them to surrender, and on their refusal, opened fire, killing one and wounding two, while the fourth surrendered. One of the wounded men took to the hills and the posse is in pursuit.

The Democratic convention at Lincoln, Nebraska, sent a telegram to the President expressing confidence in his patriotism, courage and wisdom, endorsing his Administration and reaffirming the truths set forth in his special message to Congress, for the repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman Act and calling the Senate to promptly pass the pending bill for that purpose.

The nature of Mr. Blount's recommendation regarding the annexation question, says a morning paper, is to the effect that no action could be taken by the United States to annex the Islands or establish a protectorate over it without the full consent of all the natives. The report recommends that all questions involved in annexation, or the establishment of a protectorate be submitted to a vote of all natives as well as foreigners, and upon their decision rests the future policy of the United States respecting the Hawaiian Islands.

A Fable.

A gentleman from the planet Mars, who came down to this planet for health, meets a citizen of Earth. "Ah there?" quote the gentleman from Mars, how's business? "Poor," replied the citizen from earth. "Times are mighty hard." "So-o?" replied the gentleman from Mars. "Grain crop short?"

"No." "Cattle and sheep dying?" "No." "Fuel giving out?" "No." "Under production of clothing?" "No." "War in the land?" "No." "Cholera sweeping the country?" "No." "Floods and storms destroying everything?" "No." "What's the matter then?" "Not enough money." The gentleman from Mars thought, and scratched his head. Then he thought again. Then said: "Who makes the money?" "We do." "Of what do you make it." "Oh, gold and silver and nickel and paper and several things." "Isn't there enough material to make more money?" "Yes." "Then why are you such a pack of of blamed fools that you don't make some?" And the citizen of Earth was abashed. —Stockton Mail.

The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy. I have been troubled with what I call Sick Headache. A pain comes in the back part of my head first, and then soon a general headache, until I become sick and vomit. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sourness, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. When I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

THE SIAMESE HAREM.

A COMPLETE CITY WHEREIN WOMAN'S REIGN IS ABSOLUTE.

Its Government, Amusements and Romance—The Elopement of a Beautiful Princess Leads to a Trial For Witchcraft. A Slave's Heroic Devotion.

Extremely interesting are the stories of harem life in Siam told by Mrs. A. H. Leonowens, an English woman who spent six years at the courts of the late king. She was employed as a governess for the king's children, 85 in number, the present king being one of her best pupils. Her description of the city of Nang Harm, or Veiled Women, is full of interest. The 9,000 inhabitants of that city, which is enclosed by the inner of two parallel walls around the royal palace, are all women and children. No man, save the king and the priests, dare ever enter its precincts. Here live the royal princesses, the wives, concubines and female relatives of the king, with their numerous slaves and attendants.

Connecting the city with the two palaces are covered entrances for the women. At the end of each of these passages is a bas-relief representing the head of a sphinx with a sword through his mouth and bearing this inscription, "Better that a sword be thrust through my mouth than that thou utter a word against him who ruleth on high." Not far off are the barracks of the amazons, the women's hall of justice and the dungeons, where female justices daily administer justice to the inhabitants of this woman's city.

There is also a temple, a gymnasium and a theater, where the great ladies assemble in the afternoon to gossip, play games or watch the dancing girls. In this city live also the mechanical slaves, who ply their trades for the benefit of their mistresses. It is, in fact, a city. It has its own laws, its judges, police, guards, prisons, executioners, markets, merchants, brokers, teachers and mechanics. Every function is exercised by women and by women only.

The women of the harem amuse themselves in the early and late hours of the day by gathering flowers in the palace gardens, feeding the birds and goldfishes, twining garlands for the heads of the children, listening to reading by slaves and especially in bathing. When the heat is not oppressive, they plunge into the pretty, retired lakes, swimming and diving like flocks of brown water fowl. They play at chess, cards and dice, and some of them are decidedly skillful.

Mrs. Leonowens describes a trial for witchcraft which occurred while she was at the palace. It seems that during the king's absence a beautiful princess disappeared from the harem, and in her place remained only a deaf and dumb slave girl. The day of the trial three women, half stupefied by the foul air of the damp cell in which they had been imprisoned, were conducted to the great court hall of the temple, where the trial for witchcraft was to take place. A procession of astrologers, wizards and witches, who receive handsome salaries from the king, filed into the temple and took their places.

Then came the chief judge of the supreme court and his secretary to report the trial to the king. The prisoners, when brought in, proved to be May-Peah, who was the deaf and dumb changeling, and the two handmaidens of the princess. They were guarded by 50 amazons. The crowd, who looked upon May-Peah as a veritable witch, was breathless with expectation. Conch shells were now blown to summon the holy man of the woods, who soon appeared on the opposite bank of the river, plunged into it and came and took his place beside the prisoners. This strange mortal, who lived the life of an orang outang, had a remarkably fine, sensitive face and was always called to aid the court in its spiritual examinations.

At the command of the judge the two amazons who were on duty on the night of the abduction testified that a tall, dark figure, with a dagger in one hand and a ponderous bunch of keys in the other, had entered the hall. They saw her go to the cell of the princess, open it with one of the mysterious keys and lead her forth. As they were paralyzed and unable to move from the spot, the strange figure reappeared, passed by them quickly into the cell and closed the door. To the questions of the wizards May-Peah returned no answer.

At a signal an alarm gong was struck immediately behind her, and being taken by surprise she turned to see whence the sound came. The wily judges then shouted, "It is plain that you can speak, for you are not deaf." She was forthwith condemned to all the tortures of the rack. The holy man of the woods on hearing this uttered a wild cry of "Yah" (forbear) and declared that she was powerless to speak because under the influence of witchcraft. One of the wise women suggested that some magic water should be poured into her mouth. On opening it they fell back with horror and cried: "Brahma! Brahma! An evil fiend has torn out her tongue."

Immediately the unhappy woman became the object of pity and even adoration. The ceremony of tonicism was gone through, and she and her companions were fully acquitted of any complicity with the devil, each receiving a sum of money and being set at liberty. May-Peah's friends afterward told Mrs. Leonowens that it was she who had terrified the amazons, released the princess and led her to a boat in which were the lover prince and two friends. As there was not room for all, May-Peah refused to leave the companions of her beloved mistress, and, full of terror lest by the dreadful torture which she knew awaited her she might be forced to betray those who were dearer to her than her own life, she with one stroke of her dagger deprived herself of the power of ever uttering an intelligible sound.

The Danse du Ventre.

For my part I fail to see where the present style of kicking, or the displays of the leg dramas, or the very decollete bodies and abbreviated skirts of the ballet dancer, have any advantages over the stately movements of Egypt. Orientals, Japan for example, dance with their hands. Western peoples dance with their legs. Look at the rigid bodies of Pat and the American clog dancer. France and Italy have brought all the body into action, whereby grace is sometimes attained.

The modern confinement dancing to abdominal gyrations, marvelous as gymnastics and absolutely impossible to women who lament and control of abdominal muscles are exhibited by the dancing girls in Chicago-Cairo would, if possessed by American women, be the salvation of the race. Invalidism would be impossible, and children would be born healthy. Other than as gymnastics the danse du ventre has no interest whatever. It has neither grace nor beauty, the dancers are not attractive, and their persisting in wearing French heels denotes incapacity on their part to appreciate the eternal fitness of things. Valiant men and women who have set up a howl against this performance would do well to look around the American ballroom and dinner table and discover like food for puritans. I am quite sick of Comstockian morality.—Kate Field.

Crops Saved by Frost Torches.

As fine a display of fireworks as could be desired might have been witnessed after midnight the other morning in the mountainous farm lands covering the northern portion of Saratoga county, N. Y. Frost comes early thereabouts, and three years out of five damages or destroys the corn and buckwheat.

A Swedish farmer on Hadley hill suggested the use of "frost torches" in time of danger, and explained that Scandinavian agriculturists made them of petroleum soaked peat. Peat is not handy in the locality of Hadley hill, but pine is plentiful, so in odd times during the summer a number of farmers cut staves 2 inches in diameter and 5 feet long and provided themselves with kerosene. As 8 o'clock the other evening the thermometer fell to 33 degrees, and the experimenters put their staves to work. At midnight they set them up, 50 to the acre, in the buckwheat fields, and by 1 a. m. had them blazing and smoking. Every man who tried the plan saved his crop. On other farms, where nothing was done, the probable yield is reduced at least two-thirds. The "frost torches" cost in all a half cent each.—New York Sun.

Professor Garner is getting on well with his study of monkey language. A letter dated from his steel cage, which he has named Port Gorilla, has been received in England from a Fernandez Varz Africa. He writes that he has made a large collection of curiosities and animals.

Conway village, in Massachusetts, 34 miles from the well known summer resort of Ashfield, is to be converted into a bustling manufacturing town, a market center, if an ambitious water-power scheme now on foot is carried out.

WHY HOODS? Because Hood's Catarrh is the best, most reliable and accomplishes the greatest cures. HOOD'S CURES

Admiral Dot, the Biliputian, who is now a cigarette advertisement in Chicago, is only 43 inches high, but he received a telegram last Sunday night that made him feel as big as Grover Cleveland. It was dated New York and read: "It's a girl and weighs six pounds. Mother and baby doing well."

Mrs. Dot is now with the parents of her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Kahn, who live in New York, and it was there that the baby was born. Mme. Matilda Baumach is the trained nurse who looks after the youngster and incidentally after the whole family.

"The baby is 19 inches in length and is perfectly formed," she said yesterday. "She has dark blue eyes, dark hair and very small feet and hands."

In private life Admiral Dot is known as Leopold Kahn. He was brought out by Burma when he was only 6 years old, and he has been on exhibition ever since. He is 43 inches in height, weighs a 54 children's shoe hat, 54 children's shoe glove and No. 11 children's size sock. On Aug. 11, 1892, he married Miss Leah Sweetwood, with whom he fell in love when they were both with the Levee Opera and Lilliputian Opera company. She is 19 inches in height, wears a 19 children's shoe and a 19 children's glove. Admiral Dot's wife is a very pretty girl, but it is a pity that she is so small.

On Trial.

That's a good way to buy a medicine, but it's a pretty hard condition under which to sell it. Perhaps you've noticed that the ordinary hot or miss medicine doesn't attempt it.

The only remedy of its kind so remarkable in its effects that it can be sold on this plan is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder there's nothing like it known to medical science. In every disease where, the fault is in the liver or the blood, as dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, and the most stubborn skin, scalp, and scrofulous affections, it is guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or you have your money back.

To every sufferer from catarrh, no matter how bad the case or how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.
